SPIRITUALISM - "EPISPASTICS."

OREGON, Mo., Feb. 12th, 1870. MR. EDITOR: I noticed in your issue of February 11th, the communication of Rev. "Epispastics" (I take the liberty of prefixing the "Rev.," for certainly the article has the true clerical ring,) on the merits of Spiritualism.

He asks : "How many were benefited by Mrs. Ballou's endeavors to enlighten our dark and benighted city." We answer: possibly, none; but is this woman the first and only pretended teacher who has declaimed in Oregon and left the field no better than they found it? name will be familiar and your place Are her's the only teachings that fall to first visited for the article. satisfy the soul? the only doctrine that may be met with ridicule as well as reason? Let echo answer.

But speaking of "facing His Satanle of Black Hawk, Spotted Tail, Black Kettle, or Seven Bulls, sitting on your legs all night," though not partial to the tribe, methinks he would be a more agreeable companion than that loathsome, long-horned, cloven-footed father in the cause, that "goes about like a roaring lion," &c.

But I will not blame the brother for discouraging free inquiry. This is but following in the beaten path made by his predecessors. Persons are now liv- edies. Also, all kinds of Garden Seeds. ing who have heard the same ridicule and the same anathemas thundered from the pulpit against those false teachings of the Devil-Astronomy, Chemistry, Geology and Phrenology-that are now heaped upon the so-called spiritual philosophy. Why is this? Why do all "spiritual teachers of the simple truth" try to strangle every struggling science, until public opinion compels them to accept it, and then write pondorous volumes to prove that their creed has always taught and believed it? Why fear this abortion of a crazed brain? If it is a man of straw, have you not a fire sufficiently strong to consume it?

Now, brother "Epispastics" quotes the Old Scriptures, but when I quote that same Testament, people look surprised, and answer: "Oh! that is the old dispensation; we are living under a new." Lo! here is the new! Read Mark xvi, been received, it continues Marian Har- 17; Luke x, 17, 20; I Chron, xii, I to 10, and 18 to 30, also xiv, whole chapter; James v. 14, 15. And now, as the brother proves by the Old Testament what we shall not do, let me quote what we should do. Read Numb, xxx, 17, 18,

On the road leading from Oregon to Forest City, there have recently been built two substantial bridges, over two very uprupt ravines, which will add greatly to the convenience and safety of the traveling public. These structures have been placed there by our energetic fellow-citizen, Mr. Jarvis Pike, and at his own expense, expecting that as soon as our county Court could take cognizance of this matter the county would remunerate him for his labor.
